For evenings and early mornings, Chipinda provides visitors with arguably the best game viewing on Rotavi. To retain its 'bushveld feel', Chipinda does not have any television or internet connectivity ... the only sounds are that of the Bushveld ... and the occasional visit from a civet cat.

The cottage sleeps four people in two bunk beds and includes toilet and shower and is completed by a fantastic braai area on the edge of a small plateau. Without electricity and cell phone signal, but complete with 12-volt lighting and a gas geyser, Tholo Hut is ideal for those bushveld visitors with a penchant for nature.
